

Combine Harvester Operator Refresher Training and Presentation evening

Thank you to everyone who joined us for the Combine Harvester Operator Refresher Training and the New Holland Combine Presentation evening. The two events, held back to back at the Drax Estate in Dorset, showcased the New Holland combine offering with the display of two rotary combines; models CR8.90 and CR9.90 and two straw walker combines; models CX8.70 and CX5090.

New Holland combine experts Andy Symes and Trevor Wyatt led the training which involved a detailed overview of preparing for harvest, tips, walk through and crop data guides.

C&O Sales Director Dick Spencer said "I was pleased to see so many New Holland combine customers supporting us at this event and it was a clear demonstration to me of how much we have to offer customers in our area of responsibility. The full involvement of our parts and service staff was a critical part of this activity and helped to assure our customers of the level of support they can expect from C&O at all of our depots. With the help and back-up of New Holland our aim is to provide the best level of service and customer care, essential for high value machinery with a limited window of use during the year. With positive feedback from those who attended we have already decided to hold a similar event next year and develop the concept for a New Holland combine owners' club. We are looking forward to the forthcoming harvest where we will demonstrate a new CR8.90 combine complete with a 30' Varifeed header and suspended tracks - all part of our strategy to grow our customer base and attract customers with other brands of combine."

Success for Jakub in Sixth NFU Agricultural Student of the Year competition

The sixth year of the celebrated NFU Agricultural Student of the Year competition at Kingston Maurward College resulted in a unanimous win for 18 year old Jakub Korczowski, with runners up Emily Honeybun and Burt Meaden. The award was initiated in 2011 by the NFU in conjunction with C&O Tractors Ltd and New Holland, who wanted to support a credible accreditation that would aid young farmers in their future careers.

The nine participating students; a mixture of agriculture apprentices and second year Level 3 Extended Diploma in Agriculture students, competed against one another in an intense day of tasks. These included livestock, machinery, estate skills tasks and a 50-question theory test. This was followed by an interview with a panel of judges including the NFU's Rupert Rees and Deputy County Chair, James Cossins, and C&O Tractors' Matthew Holland and Dave Stickland.

Winner Jakub, from Winfrith, said "It was a real surprise to win - I wasn't expecting it at all! I think it was my responses about farming in the EU and sustainability that the judges were pleased with. I've really enjoyed my time at Kingston Maurward - it's the best thing I've ever done."

Jakub, who plans to work on an arable farm at the end of his course, was presented with the bespoke trophy made for the competition in 2011 by Kingston Maurward resident blacksmith Simon Grant Jones. Jakub's prize is £200 worth of merchandise from the prestigious New Holland online store and a scale model New Holland tractor.

C&O Tractors Sales Manager, Matthew Holland, said: "As always we are delighted to sponsor this competition - Kingston Maurward College has yet again produced a very good crop of students; they all gave intelligent thoughtful answers during the interview panel and they all have a bright future in farming."

Dorset NFU Deputy County Chairman, James Cossins, said: "Well done to all of the students taking part: They did an excellent job throughout the day. We wish them all the best for the future and hope they will put their knowledge to good use and stay in farming in Dorset!"
